

IT Project Manager
Job Announcement
Posted: February 7, 2008

California is a national and world leader in energy efficiency and renewable energy, tapping the power of the market to address global warming and sustainability issues. Energy Solutions is a fast paced and innovative consulting firm, specializing in energy efficiency program design, implementation, and marketing; and also working on alternative energy, emerging technologies, and water conservation projects. We are seeking to fill an IT Project Manager position. Our offices are located in downtown Oakland, California.

As a member of the Energy Solutions team, you will experience all of the benefits of working for a small company: opportunities to manage projects, close working relationships with colleagues, an active role in shaping company direction and your own future, and flexibility in work schedules. At the same time, you will have a broad impact on energy efficiency markets and greenhouse gas reductions through our work for major California utilities, the California Public Utilities Commission, and other national leaders in energy efficiency. This unique blend creates a perfect environment for individuals who want to have an active voice in shaping the energy future in California and beyond.

Candidates should possess a degree in computer science, systems engineering, or similar technical major. Three to five years of work experience in designing, developing and enhancing web-based applications is required. Energy-related professional experience and consulting experience are a positive, but not required. Strong technical document writing, communication skills, and client management skills are required.

Energy Solutions expects employees to manage project tasks with minimal oversight. Responsibilities will include working with clients and customer to define and create functional and technical specification documents for custom web-based applications, database architecture design, interface design, working with management to identify and schedule resources to complete projects, interacting regularly with customers, monitoring the progress of projects, communicating progress to management and clients, and bringing projects to a conclusion. In addition, the IT Project Manager position entails maintaining existing client relationships and cultivating new relationships.

Salaries are competitive and commensurate with experience. Energy Solutions offers medical and dental benefits, flexible health and commuter spending accounts, and an excellent retirement package. Please email cover letter with start date availability and your resume to Luther Kopf at lkopf@energy-solution.com.
